

Practical Habits That Prevent Drift

Most team dysfunction isn't dramatic. It's missed deadlines, vague ownership, or quiet frustration. Momentum fades gradually, not explosively. Below are some tips to prevent the slow drift that can inevitably harm a team.

Review commitments regularly

Reinforce priorities frequently

Normalize course correction

Link initiatives to results

Make ownership explicit

Communicate with one voice

Align around organizational metrics
